

DolFinTech Introduces Digital Banking Services Online and in 500-Plus Locations Nationwide

Mar 5, 2026

Powered by Green Dot's embedded finance platform, Arc, the new demand deposit accounts expand access to secure, FDIC-insured banking for Hispanic and other underserved communities across the U.S.

PROVO, Utah--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Mar. 5, 2026-- DolFinTech, one of the largest privately held money transfer companies serving outbound remittance markets in the U.S., Canada and Spain to more than 20 destination countries, has expanded its suite of financial services with new demand deposit accounts (DDAs) designed to empower Hispanic and other underserved communities. Powered by Green Dot's (NYSE: GDOT) embedded finance platform, the new DDAs are available to customers online and in more than 500 DolFinTech locations nationwide, including DolEx Financial Services and Barri Money Services locations, as well as associated independent agents.

The new DolEx Visa Debit Card and Barri Visa Debit Card offer essential banking features such as direct deposit, debit card access, overdraft protection and secure money management tools – all integrated alongside DolFinTech's existing financial services. With nationwide retail availability and online enrollment, the launch delivers a flexible, omnichannel banking experience that meets customers where and how they choose to engage.

"We are incredibly excited by our customers' response to the launch of the DolEx and Barri Visa Debit Card programs," said Rosa Perez, director of marketing and digital at DolFinTech. "The seamless integration of the accounts into our existing mobile platform, combined with our employees' enthusiasm in promoting it and strong customer adoption, reinforces our belief that we are bringing a truly unique offering to the market. This launch represents a significant step forward in our digital evolution and aligns with the broader transformation taking place across the industry. We are proud to support our customers as they embrace more innovative and convenient financial solutions."

Designed to support the Hispanic community

DolFinTech provides non-bank financial services tailored to the Hispanic community with more than 500 company stores, 5,000 retail agent locations and an expanding digital presence. The newly launched banking offering is designed to further reduce barriers to financial access and includes key differentiators such as:

- Multilingual support in retail locations, allowing customers to transact in their preferred language
- Acceptance of select forms of foreign government-issued identification, expanding access for customers often excluded from traditional banking institutions
- In-person account opening and support, combined with digital account management capabilities

"This launch demonstrates the power of embedded finance at scale and delivers the convenience, flexibility and access our shared customers value," said Jamison Jaworski, senior vice president and general manager, consumer division at Green Dot. "By leveraging our Arc platform, DolFinTech can deliver a modern banking experience that fits naturally into its existing customer journey, helping bridge gaps in traditional financial services for Hispanic and other underserved communities. We're thrilled to continue growing our partnership with DolFinTech and innovating on behalf of these communities for years to come."
